

Ricp

LA RIVISTA ITALIANA DI
CURE PALLIATIVE

Copyright transfer statement

This declaration is sufficient to be signed by the first author on behalf of all the authors listed under the title of the article being published.

Title and authors of the article

Weaving meaningful pathways through the end of a child's life
Danai Papadatou

With this declaration we certify that:

- all authors participated in the editing of the content
- if the content contains parts of other published works or if it has already been published in its entirety, the author declares, if necessary, that he has obtained formal authorization for use and that he has attached it to the content
- the data collected and presented in the content are reliable
- the author whose signature appears at the bottom has been formally authorized by all authors to act on their own name and account
- the content is in no way obscene or defamatory; it does not violate privacy rights or property protection rights (including copyrights, patents or registered trademarks) or violate any other human or personal right
- the author has not violated any right of confidentiality to which he is bound nor has he violated any contract
- the author is responsible for the content and scientific information published
- the author is aware that the publications are also aimed at a non-specialized audience for which registration and access with login is not required.

Original content clause:

By accepting this article for publication, the Italian Society of Palliative Care acquires all present and future rights on the job itself, for all languages and for all countries for:

- the publication, reproduction, distribution of the content in all its forms (including digital and electronic formats)
  - the translation into other languages, the review or the collection in monothematic collections, in printed or electronic format
- the transfer to third parties of the same rights.

Reproducibility of the article content

- you can reproduce the content in part or in full in other manuscripts or books of which you are the author
- it is possible to reproduce the content for teaching purposes within institutions for which the author is accredited
- it is possible to use figures and / or tables for other works drawn up by the same

The author undertakes to maintain in any use of the above the full citation as it appears in the Journal of Palliative Care, as well as the full reference to the copyright owner.

Name and surname:

E-mail address:

Place and date:

Signed for and on behalf of all Authors:

Conflict of interest statement

This declaration is sufficient to be signed by the first author on behalf of all the authors listed under the title of the article being published, but it must also report the reference to any conflicts of interest for each author of the article being published; if absent, indicate NONE.

Title and authors of the article:

Weaving meaningful pathways through the end of a child's life
Danai Papadatou

List of authors: economic interests in the manuscript:

1) Danai Papadatou

Name and surname:

E-mail address:

Place and date:

Signed for and on behalf of all Authors: